The next day I tried to download it again and I'm getting stuck at 21%(making me think that it is trying to download the bootstrapper). Is it worth downloading and playing around with it? or not? A: If you want to find the newest version of the KRNL Bootstrapper, I recommend looking here and here. This version of KRNL Bootstrapper should fix the problem of getting stuck at 21%. The newest version is version 2.1.0 at the time of this writing. This version will completely fix the error. Try downloading it from these two links and making sure to add KRNL Bootstrapper's first line: `script-feed: pfx; v2.1.0`; A: I had the same problem and after Googleing it I read the same problem here. Bootstrapper script is not complete and the error cannot be fixed by updating the Bootstrapper. So, I created a temporary website with the Bootstrapper: If you open it with Internet Explorer you get an error. But Chrome works good without any error. So, I hope this help you! Two forms of genetic instruction in hereditary retinal disease. Patients with hereditary retinal diseases who have become mildly deaf and have an associated retinal dystrophy have been shown to be heterozygotes for mutations in the GUCY2D gene on chromosome 13 and an unknown gene, IRD1, on chromosome 2. Their family members carry the same mutations and an examination of their eyes has shown them to have macular dystrophy as well. This paper examines the structure of the IRD1 and GUCY2D genes with respect to their function and the involvement of the recessive allele, IRD1 or GUCY2D, which shows the disease to be a microdeletion disease. The clinical and genetic findings in these patients are compared with those of other unrelated families with a similar 'mild' form of deafness and retinal disease.
